

PRESS RELEASE

Author living in Exeter Reaches Quarter of a Million Downloads

For release before 30th November 2013

Exeter-based author, Rosen Trevithick, is set to reach quarter of a million book sales and downloads when she releases her new titles in November. The author has already attracted 244,000 downloads of her fiction for children and adults.

About Rosen Trevithick

Rosen, 33, began writing as a hobby and started publishing her books online 'just to see what happened'. Three years later, she's topped Amazon Kindle's humorous fiction chart and attracted tens of thousands of readers.

She is best known for her Seesaw short story collections and her Smelly Troll series.

Rosen moved to Exeter in 2009. She grew up in Cornwall and moved to Exeter after living in Oxford for nine years, having studied at St Catherine's College.

Exeter

Rosen has held book signings at The Exeter Phoenix and The City Gate. Most recently she ran a stall at arts and crafts fair, Unique Boutique.

Also a playwright, Rosen has contributed theatre scripts to three shows performed in Exeter: The Royal Hangover (Boston Tea Party, August 2011), Several Deadly Sketches (The Barnfield, December 2011) and Prime (The City Gate, February 2013).

Rosen regularly meets readers whilst writing in coffee shops throughout Exeter. Look out for her in Tea on the Green, Costa Coffee and Caffe Nero.

About Rosen's New Releases

- Seesaw - Volume II
- Trolls on Ice
- The First Trollogy

Aimed at adults, Rosen's Seesaw collections contain a mixture of psychological thrillers and light hearted comedies.

Trolls on Ice will be the third instalment in Rosen's Smelly Troll series, a set of humorous adventure stories aimed at children aged 7-10. The troll books are beautifully illustrated by artist, Katie W. Stewart.

The First Trollogy, contains Smelly Trolls books 1-3 in one 'snotacular' volume, intended to make the series more appealing to gifted readers.

Paperback and Kindle editions will be available.
